

"Innopharma Journal" Call for submissions and name competition

Hello all! Innopharma Education is thrilled to announce our upcoming journal (set to launch in December) and we need your help in shaping the content and giving it the perfect name.

About the Journal:

The Innopharma Journal aims to showcase the vibrant and diverse realm of research activities taking place within Innopharma Education. Centered on innovation and contemporary trends, our journal will cover topics such as Digital Transformation, Pharmaceutical Business and Technology, Medical Device Technology, Food Business and Technology and Sustainability.

Submission Criteria:

We eagerly welcome submissions from both staff and students across all aforementioned subjects. We particularly value accessible content that engages a wide audience. Whether it's a research article, a compelling opinion piece, or a letter to the editor, we want to hear from you! Additionally, don't hesitate to share your insights through book reviews and conference reports, as they provide invaluable analyses and summaries of recent scholarly endeavors and industry happenings.

Send your journal content submissions (opinion pieces/research articles/book reviews or conference reports) to journal@innopharmalabs.com . Full details of submission criteria can be found here

Submission Deadline: 1st September

Journal Naming Competition Prize:

Exciting news! The winner of the journal naming competition will receive a fabulous €50 One4all voucher as a token of our appreciation.

So, unleash your creativity and submit your best journal name to journal@innopharmalabs.com TODAY!
